A Guatemalan man pleaded guilty to misleading a police investigation last Thursday in connection to a body that was found in a cardboard box in July. Jose Milthon Freddy Azurdia- Montenegro, 55, will now return to Guatemala after appearing in Plymouth Superior Court in Brockton on Thursday on charges of misleading a police investigation, according to his defense attorney Elliot M. Weinstein. Weinstein said Azurdia-Montenegro decided to plead guilty after "concluding that was in his best interest."

Prosecutors from the Plymouth County District Attorney's office sought two to three years in state prison for Azurdia-Montenegro, according to Bridget Norton Middleton, spokeswoman to Plymouth County District Attorney Timothy Cruz. "The court gave him 102 days," Middleton said. "He had done his time and was released."
